

Distorted Perceptions

Knowing that those with gambling use disorders frequently develop irrational thinking patterns that present themselves during counseling sessions, how do you respond effectively in your practice? Would you respond to these distortions with gamblers differently? What are your thoughts regarding confrontation of irrational thoughts/cognitive distortions?